

CODE MONKEY JUST WAITING FOR NOW

CODE MONKEY SAY SOMEDAY, SOMEHOW

CODE MONKEY LIKE FRITOS

CODE MONKEY LIKE TAB AND MOUNTAIN DEW

CODE MONKEY VERY SIMPLE MAN

WITH BIG WARM FUZZY SECRET HEART

CODE MONKEY LIKE YOU

CODE MONKEY LIKE YOU

INT. PERATYN SYSTEMS LOBBY

Borland and Caroline enter and meet Jonathan C.

BORLAND

Jonathan. This is Caroline Decker, my tech lead in bio-mech. She's the cyborg queen. Caroline, Jonathan Anderson.

(to Caroline)

Jonathan thinks in pure mech. He wants to skip
'borging and go right to the singularity.

CAROLINE

Right. The latest wundermonkey.

(Sarcastically)

Why use proven human biological enhancement
when you can create something that outsmarts you?

JONATHAN

Apes with built-in guns and armor are still apes.

CAROLINE

Say that to their face.

JONATHAN

Hmmm, that might be almost as painful as having my bone marrow replaced with synthetic oil.

CAROLINE

I can see your squeamish point. Pain killers help. In any case, you'll be old, or dead, before you do it.

JONATHAN

No, I won't.

CAROLINE

(To Borland)

I think maybe your friend is confusing the singularity with being single.

JONATHAN

Well-played.

BORLAND

We're not as far apart as it seems. The direct neural interface I'm working on—

CAROLINE

(To Borland)

Thank you, Switzerland.

(To Jonathan)

Call me when you kill Neil and take over the cyber-con team. If we don't get 1.2 out the door soon for "Homeland Security," you'll have to freelance it.

JONATHAN

Shouldn't be a problem.

CAROLINE

Who should I trust? You, or my own eyes?

Caroline walks away. Borland follows and exits.

CAROLINE (CONT'D)

Hey! Anderson! Go out with me.

Forget it.

Caroline and Jonathan exit.

Caroline re-enters, like she's going after Jonathan. She stops. Borland enters.

CAROLINE

How would you describe him? I can't say I wasn't expecting cocky, but still, it's a little disappointing.

(MORE)